

Manchester Evening News

You are here: Home | Lifestyle | Health and beauty | Style | Rule Britannia: Brit designers uncovered

Style

 Print Article |  Email Article |  Submit Comments

Dress from Vivienne Westwood's Anglomania range

View gallery \(total of 3 images\)

advertisement

Rule Britannia: Brit designers uncovered

Helen Tither

23/ 4/2007

As it's St George's Day, we've gone all patriotic with some English-flavoured fashion. Even better - with a northern twist.

How better to celebrate St Georges Day than with some superb buys from the cream of Britain's designers.

Highlights of the new Brit wave include suits by Nicholas Jones Bespoke for the boys. The Manchester tailor's new summer range is hot, hot, hot, all slate greys and slim,sharp lines.

And for the girls, there's a boggling amount of choice too:

Local dress designer Vicky Martin for example, has a store in the Triangle and devoted following of celebs including countless WAGS and soap stars,

Evergreen fashionista Vivienne Westwood , meanwhile is about to open her new Trafford Centre store - just in time for summer purchases.

Finally, national favourite Gorgeous Couture make a welcome comeback to the fashion scene this season with their gorgeous Keira Swarovski Mini Dress (£189) named after Miss Knightley herself - as well as oodles of other high fashion delights.

Shopping local has just got so much more appealing.

Submit your comments

---

Search |

© M.E.N media 2007